

Detention Centers in Contra Costa County:

Arrests in Richmond are going to be processed in Contra Costa County. We don't know how the Richmond police will process arrestees. Contra Costa County has two jails, and one juvenile hall. The Richmond police may book arrestees in Martinez, then move folks over to West County. They could also cite and release them from the Richmond Police Station, about a ten minute drive from the West County Detention Facility. The Richmond police could cite them out or keep them in either jail facility, (but women are only kept at West County Detention Facility, in Richmond).

All directions are from Judge G. Carroll Park, the morning rally location.
